INSTRUCTIONS FOR AUTHORS

Papers on laboratory and clinical investigations, statistical studies, and critical reviews on cancer and related subjects must contain original material not previously published, and be submitted exclusively to CANCER RESEARCH. Submit the original typescript and one clear copy on 8½ x 11 inch bond paper; two original sets of illustrations are also required. Use double spacing throughout and allow for ample margins.

Title: Should be brief and indicative of the subject matter. Avoid the use of roman numerals, subtitles or abbreviations. Also provide a brief running title.

Summary: Should be independent of the text and placed at the beginning of the article. In 250 words or less, recapitulate the principal procedures and results. Avoid unnecessary abbreviations.

Format and Style: Consult a recent issue of CANCER RESEARCH for style and arrangement of papers; adhere carefully to this format. Use separate pages for the title, author(s), and affiliation; summary; references; footnotes; legends for illustrations; and acknowledgments. Follow Webster’s International Dictionary for spelling and punctuation; simplified word forms are preferred, e.g., analog, biologic, pipet, technic. Consult Chemical Abstracts for chemical terms. Wherever possible, avoid the use of numbered or lettered paragraphs and sections.

Terminology and Abbreviations: All organic, biochemical, and similar abbreviations must be fully defined in an inclusive footnote; a single text citation, not in the Summary, will then suffice. For clarity, keep abbreviations to a minimum; do not abbreviate short terms or those used infrequently.

If abbreviations are used, the following are preferred: gm (not g), ml (not cc or cm³), µg (not γ), µl (not µ), sq mm (not mm²), A (not Α), mg, kg, cpm, rpm, dpm, i.m., i.p., i.v., p.o., s.c., hr, min, sec, mEq, S.D., S.E., R. Do not abbreviate liter(s) or inch(es). Unit abbreviations do not require a period. Distinguish clearly between millimole(s) (mM) and millimolar (mM). Use ≤ and ≥ (not ≤ and ≥). Use percent (or %), not per cent.

Isotope designations should conform to the following style: 32P, 14CO₂, and glycine-2-14C. Decimals are preferred to fractions; the form 0.03, not .03, is required in text, tables, and charts. Temperature units should be given (i.e., 14°C).

Footnotes: Footnotes to the title page and text should be designated with consecutive superscript numerals.

References: Should be arranged in alphabetical order according to authors. List all authors for each reference, and give title, journal, volume number, inclusive pages, and year. Consult Chemical Abstracts for abbreviations of journals. Papers in press may be listed among the references if the journal name is supplied; however, papers in preparation or submitted for publication, unpublished data, or personal communications must be cited either parenthetically in the text or in footnotes.

When citing a specific chapter or article in a book, list article author(s), article title, book author(s) or editor(s), book title, edition, volume, inclusive pages of article, city, publisher, year. For complete books, give all of this information that is pertinent.

Verify all references.

Tables: Type tables on bond paper, arrange vertically, and number with arabic numerals. Make titles descriptive and provide headings for all columns. Abbreviations must be identified in each table in which they are used. Table footnotes should be indicated with superscript letters (a, b, etc.). Avoid the use of dashes or ditto marks. Do not repeat identical data in charts.

Charts: Line-cut illustrations (graphs and drawings) are designated as charts. Use large, bold numbers, letters, symbols, and lines. Original (vellum) drawings (approximately 8 x 10 inches) in black India ink are preferred; glossy prints (approximately 5 x 7 inches) are acceptable if large and sharp enough to permit quality reproduction. Supply a legend for each chart with sufficient detail to make the chart understandable without reference to the text, and include explanations of all abbreviations used. Ordinates should be in the same plane. Number charts with arabic numerals.

Figures: Half-tone illustrations (photomicrographs and photographs) are designated as figures. They must be of good technical quality and essential for the clarity of the presentation.
