COVER LEGEND

This month our cover features the Institute of Experimental and Clinical Oncology of the Academy of Medical Sciences of the USSR, located at Kashirskoye Chausse in Moscow, M478. It was founded in 1951 and is the largest center in the USSR for laboratory and clinical research on cancer.

Nikolai Nikolaevich Blokhin (b. 1912 in Lukoyanov) has been Director of the Institute since its opening. He was graduated from Gorky State Medical Institute in 1934 and in the same year founded the Institute of Restorative Surgery, Orthopedics, and Traumatology where he was Director of General Surgery from 1950 to 1952. He was President of the Academy of Medical Sciences of the USSR (1966–1970) and President of the International Union Against Cancer (1966–1970). The author of over 50 works, Dr. Blokhin has contributed to the literature on cancer control, plastic surgery, and chemotherapy of cancer. Leon Manusovich Shabad (b. 1902 in Minsk) is a pathologist who is Chief of the Department of Carcinogenic Agents at the Institute. He graduated from the Leningrad Medical Institute in 1924, and in 1925 began working in the field of experimental oncology. Shabad is a member of the Academy of Medical Sciences of the USSR. He is world renowned for his work on environmental carcinogenesis, for which he was awarded a prize by the United Nations in 1962. His numerous publications include books on pathology and oncology. He continues to be a frequent contributor to the cancer literature in English as well as in the Russian language (e.g., J. Natl. Cancer Inst., 47: 987–1005, 1971; Cancer Res., 32: 617–627, 1972).
