COVER LEGEND

The 1972 Albert Lasker Medical Research Awards were extended to 17 individuals, for 7 categories of accomplishment in clinical cancer chemotherapy: (1) Use of drugs in cures of gestational choriocarcinoma (Li and Hertz). (2) Use of drugs in long-term disease-free survivors with Burkitt's tumor (Burkitt, Burchenal, Ngu, and Ziegler). (3) Use of topical chemotherapy and enhancement of host response for cures in skin cancers (Klein). (4) Use of combination drug therapy resulting in prolonged survival, in acute lymphatic leukemia (Frei, Freireich, Holland, and Pinkel). (5) Use of combination drug therapy, resulting in prolonged survival, in Hodgkin's disease (Frei, Carbone, and DeVita). (6) Treatment of mycosis fungoides, with topical chemotherapy and enhancement of host response (Van Scott). (7) Supportive measures in treatment of toxicity, infection, and hemorrhage, due to side effects of drugs (Djerassi and Freireich).

A special Award was presented to Dr. C. Gordon Zubrod of the National Cancer Institute, for his leadership in the National Cancer Institute program of chemotherapy.
