Announcement from the Editor

Under the new copyright law (PL 94-553) which is effective January 1, 1978, copyright for written material is vested in the author from the moment of its creation and remains the property of the author until legally transferred. For this reason it has become necessary to require that all authors who wish to publish in Cancer Research formally transfer copyright to the proprietor of the Journal, namely, Cancer Research, Inc., the publishing subsidiary of the American Association for Cancer Research. It is understood by this transfer that the authors relinquish all exclusive rights of copyright ownership, including the rights of reproduction, derivation, distribution, and display. However, the Journal will continue its policy of allowing authors (or others with the permission of the authors) to include the copyrighted material in reviews, books, or subsequent papers, upon written request to the Editor. It is understood in conveying copyright that the authors have not published this material elsewhere, either in whole or in part (except in abbreviated form as a preliminary communication), and that they have neither concluded previous negotiations nor initiated pending negotiations for copyright of this material.

When a manuscript has been written by two or more authors, one of them will be designated senior author and will negotiate copyright transfer in the name of all of the authors.

The federal government has determined that it has a nonexclusive right to publish or republish material developed from work performed under federal grant-supported projects. Therefore, copyrights for such works are subject to this restriction. Since the federal government does not recognize private copyright for work performed by its employees as part of their official duties, the Journal will accept papers from government laboratories without copyright transfer, provided that the authors abide by the same provisions required of other authors.

Appropriate forms for transfer of copyright will be sent routinely with acknowledgment of receipt of manuscripts. They may also be requested from the Cancer Research Editorial Office. The Journal will not accept a paper unless the form is properly filled out and signed.
